What's all the buzz about?

GALECTOVID™ defines a new class of medical food that blocks unique factors (Galectins 1 and 3) in your body that, when present in excess, can drive inflammation and ongoing immune reactions caused by certain viral infections and chronic diseases. GALECTOVID represents a new approach to blocking these proteins, and is based on a natural food source that is classified as a Generally Recognized As Safe (GRAS).

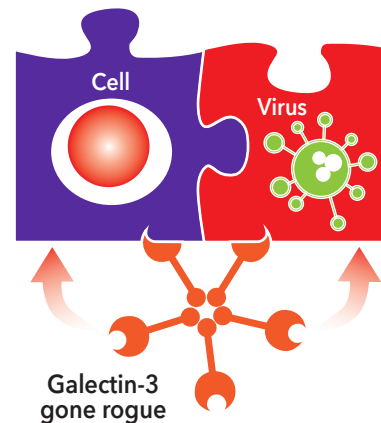

What are Galectins?

Galectins are special proteins in your body that act as 'connectors' between cells and between cells and proteins to maintain your health and well-being! They play important roles in how your cells communicate with each other, how they multiply and repair themselves, where they travel, and where they attach.

There are several forms of galectins, but scientists have found that two of them, Gal-1 and Gal-3, may play important roles in both health and disease. For example, excess levels of Gal-3 have been detected in many chronic diseases including cancer, heart disease, fibrosis, stroke and Long COVID. Interestingly enough, Gal-3 can also mistakenly help viruses such as the COVID-19 virus spread through your body by 'connecting' the virus to its target cell. Gal-3 does this by recognizing certain structures on both the viral and the cellular surfaces, stabilizing the connection long enough for the virus to enter the cell and start replicating. This relatively recent discovery has triggered keen interest in developing a new class of drugs to block Gal-3 (and other Galectins) for acute and chronic conditions associated with inappropriate galectin expression.

What is GALECTOVID?

As mentioned, GALECTOVID is a specialized formulated version of guar gum, a plant-derived substance that has been used for decades as an important component of certain foods as a stabilizer to extend shelf life and to maintain consistency and quality.

Aside from its uses in the food industry, guar gum is used to maintain digestive health as a soluble fiber and for managing cholesterol and blood sugar.

GALECTOVID's 'secret sauce' comes from being a specially formulated preparation of guar gum that captures its recently-discovered ability to block Galectins 1 and 3 such that it defines a new class of medical food. The secret formulation eliminates the inconvenient digestive system side effects of guar gum when taken in capsule or liquid form, and enhances its galectin-blocking power.

What can I expect when I take GALECTOVID?

GALECTOVID comes as chewable tablets that are meant to coat your mouth when you first take them, with the goal of providing even coverage and superior absorption.

With continued use over a period of time, GALECTOVID's inhibitory action against galectins 1 and 3 should help you manage the side effects associated with their inflammatory and immune functions.
